

BACKGROUND

- ❑ Survey of 1,500+ US Consumers each month, balanced to census demographically.

FINDINGS:

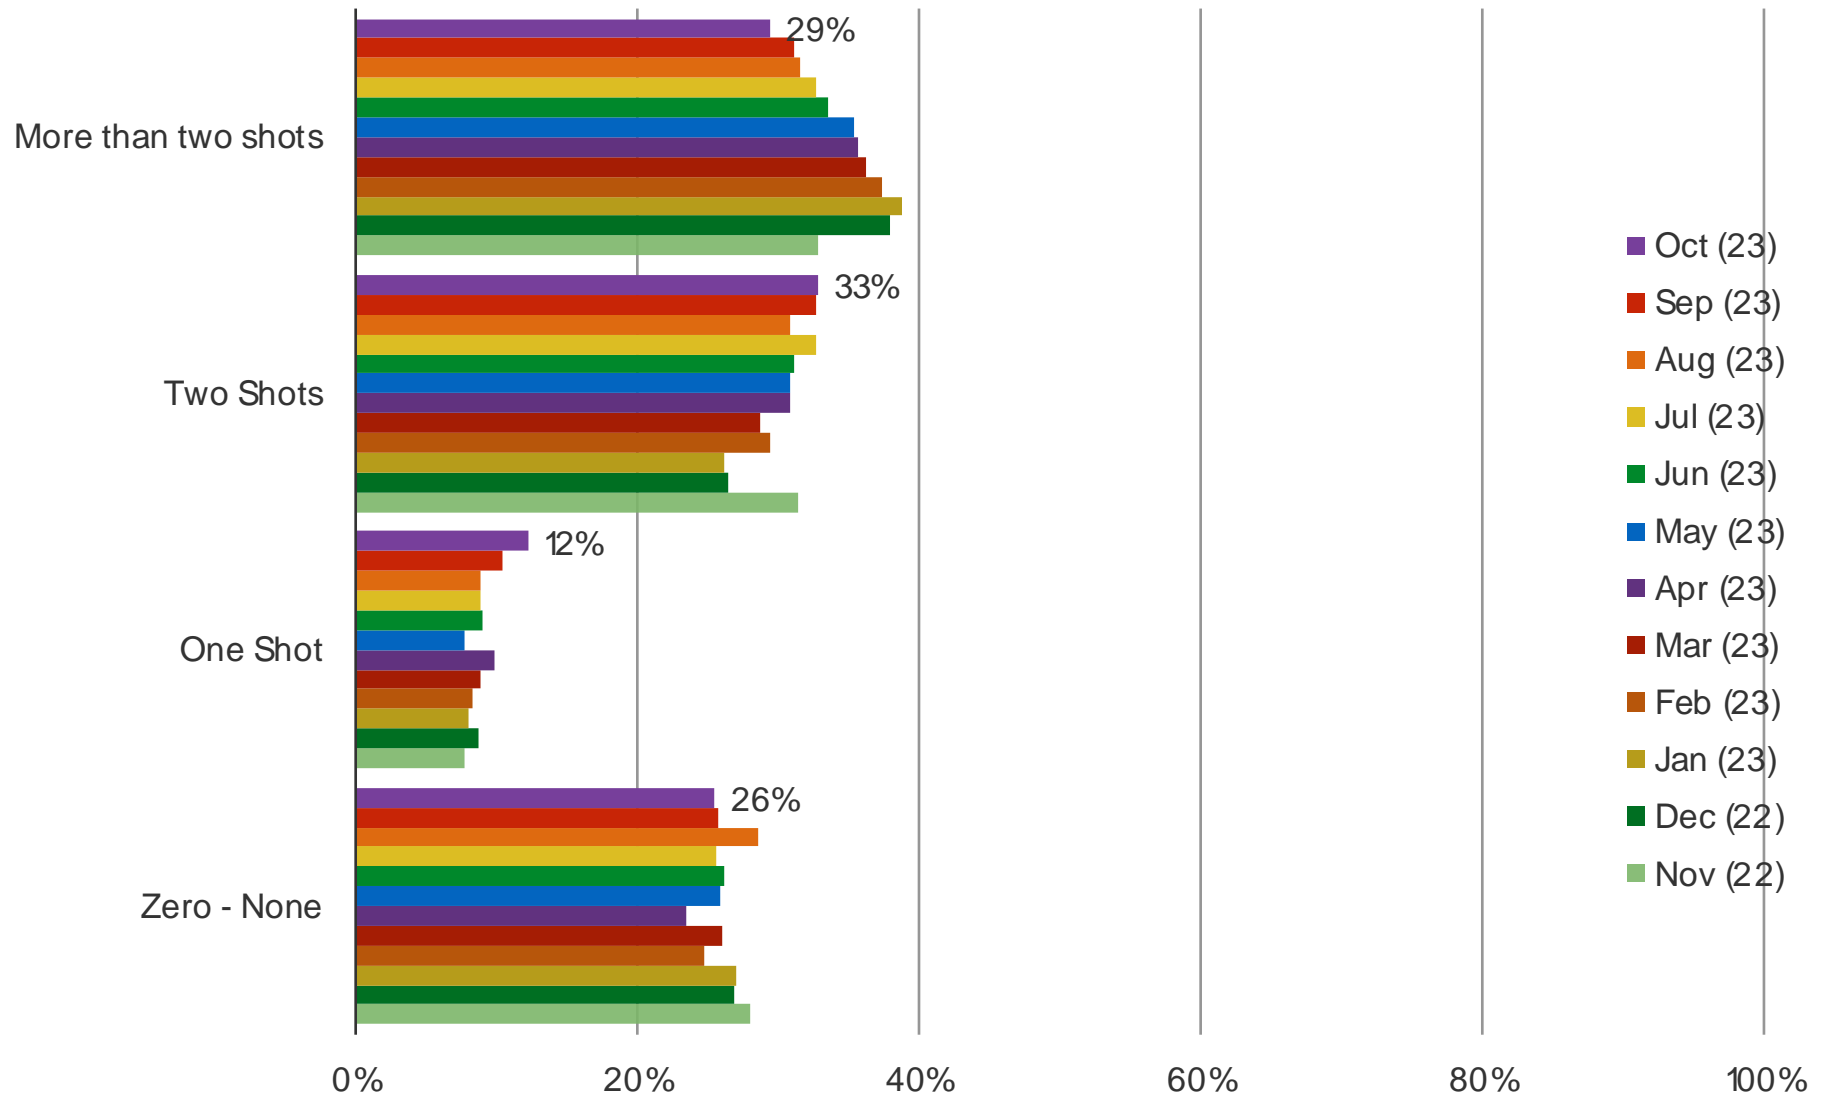

- ❑ The percentage of consumers who say they had adverse effects after receiving a Covid shot is tracking flat m/m (at 4%). The share who had serious adverse effects remains above the share who says the same about the flu shot.
- ❑ The share who say they got a Covid shot in the last month jumped m/m, but the seasonal uptick lags behind what we observed for the flu shot.
- ❑ Over half of respondents continue to indicate that they will not get another Covid shot at any point in the future.
